

Advanced International Seminars of Discourse Studies

Rhetorical Analysis of Text & Discourse

Professor Michael Burke

Advanced six-week online training

26 October to 30 November 2026

The Rhetorical Analysis of Text and Discourse has become somewhat neglected in the field of text and discourse studies. The methodological and analytic ideas of Aristotle and Cicero, and many others, are most certainly still useful in the analysis of text and discourse. This seminar will introduce you to these methods and theories with a focus on how they can be applied in your own research.

- Designed for academics and graduate students with specialized knowledge in Language and Discourse Studies.
- Admissions will be limited to 25 scholars from around the world.

Pre-registration deadline: 25 August 2026

More about the seminar and how to apply at:

www.discoursestudies.org/aisds

